

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In an active matrix type liquid crystal display apparatus, each of pixel electrodes has overhanging portions at its 5 opposite side edges. These overhanging portions of the pixel electrode cover two signal lines placed on opposite sides of the pixel electrode, respectively.